

Reminder on Monday Market Opening Risk

Dear Valued Clients,

Due to Israel's surprise attack on Iran, geopolitical tensions have escalated sharply. As a result, high-risk market fluctuations for spot gold and silver may occur upon Monday's market opening. We hereby alert you to the following potential risks:

- 1. Price may experience gaps
- 2. Spreads may widen substantially
- 3. Unstable market liquidity may result in order rejections
- 4. Temporary quote unavailability may occur

Please prepare your trading arrangements in advance, manage positions prudently, and closely monitor market developments. During extreme market conditions, exercise caution in operations and prioritize risk mitigation.

During periods of extreme market volatility or insufficient liquidity, precious metal prices may experience gaps, potentially preventing timely order execution or causing orders to fill at significantly unfavorable prices.
